

Innovation wherever you are.

Senior Buyer

Codan Limited provides robust and leading edge technology solutions that solve customers' safety, security and productivity problems in the harshest environments on earth. With exports representing 85% of our revenues, our products are sold into more than 150 countries around the world.

With our core products of radio communications systems, metal detectors and mining technology solutions our global customers include aid and humanitarian organisations, mining companies, security and military groups, government departments, major corporates as well as individual consumers and artisanal miners.

Headquartered in modern, stunning facilities in Technology Park, our core values of can-do, high performing, customer driven and openness and integrity, reflect not only our business, but our people.

The Role

Working in the New Product Introduction (NPI) team as well as supporting the Codan Defence Electronics business key activities will include:

- Manage the sourcing, planning and purchasing of materials for new products from design stage until product launch
- Review material shortages and provide regular reporting throughout the NPI process
- Provide material quotations for internal and external projects (short turnaround times)
- Manage, negotiate and build positive relationships with local and overseas suppliers
- Ongoing, proactive commitment to continuous improvement in the areas of quality, cost, delivery and lead time

Skills and Experience

You will have a strong background working in procurement, preferably in a similar industry together with knowledge of electronic and/or mechanical components. As a commercially astute individual, you will have exceptional negotiation and communication skills and thrive working in a fast-paced environment. As a seasoned Buyer you will naturally have strong problem solving skills, be comfortable making decisions and working independently.

The opportunity

We are proud of Codan's success and our South Australian heritage. Join a well-established procurement team working on some exciting business projects and opportunities. Immediate start!
