Codan Convoy: fusing Cellular, Satellite and High Frequency Radio

Adelaide, Australia, 20 November 2017

Codan Radio Communications is pleased to announce the launch and immediate availability of Codan Convoy™. Codan's Convoy is an innovative communications solution which fuses the reliability, cost effectiveness and convenience of Cellular, Satellite and High Frequency Radio into an integrated and intuitive platform.

Codan are renowned for providing reliable and robust remote area communications solutions – with 60 years of experience supporting the most remote parts of the earth. Through close engagement with customers, Codan has identified that many existing customers are using disparate solutions across Cellular, Satellite and Radio. Codan Convoy brings these platforms together.

Codan Convoy is a multi-mode platform which provides capability to do world-wide SMS (text) messaging, location tracking of assets and remote management of deployed radio assets, including key management for security conscious applications.

Typical applications include addressing communications black spots, improving network availability, providing situational awareness, and reducing network management operating costs. Codan Convoy also features a web portal which in addition to SMS and asset tracking, can be used to manage remote radio assets; perform health-checks, decommission and manage capabilities.

Codan Convoy works in conjunction with the Envoy software-defined smart radio, which has recently been through a major program of upgrades. Codan's Envoy has been widely deployed worldwide in applications spanning humanitarian, relief, public safety and security.

The latest release of Envoy delivers real-world benefits to all users and includes; full support for 3G ALE (STANAG 4538) waveforms, and Codan's new secure interoperability function.
